

Making it Work

Important points to note when working with schools:

- Schools/colleges are not flexible organisations
- Teachers vary widely in their experience and knowledge of working practices outside school/college
- The aims and expectations of schools/colleges are often very different from those of other organisations

Important points to note when working with employers:

- An education business link activity is a lesson that needs planning like any other
- An education business link activity is a lesson that needs a teacher in charge of it like any other
- A commitment is a commitment
